Uncertainty of State Funding Means Tax Bills Will Be Late This Year

Neither the Borough, nor the Township — nor any of the 565 other municipalities in New Jersey — were able to send out their tax bills on time this year.

Tax bills require the setting of a tax rate, which in turn requires an approved budget. Final budgets could not be adopted because municipalities have not known until just this week whether or not they would be receiving the same amounts in state funds that were allocated last year from the Quality in Education Act for property tax relief.

So what is a taxpayer to do? The advice from Borough and Township officials is to sit tight — tax bills will be forthcoming and taxpayers will not be penalized with interest for problems caused by the state. If they wish, taxpayers may pay the same amount for the third quarter as they paid in the first and second quarter, and it will be credited toward the actual bill when it is issued.

Decimus W. Marsh, Borough chief financial officer and tax collector, says he thinks Borough tax bills will go out in about two weeks. Borough Council will decide the appropriate time frame between the date they are sent out and the date the bill must be paid. The bill will indicate the due date.

Township Committee voted on Monday night to issue tax anticipation notes with which to pay upcoming payroll, school and county bills rather than send out estimated tax bills to Township residents as the state has authorized municipalities to do. Estimated tax bills don't carry the same enforceable clout that actual tax bills do. They cost money and clerical time to send out and credit against the actual tax bill, which Township Chief Financial Officer Himanshu Shah thinks will be sent out around August 15.

Tax anticipation notes will cost the Township interest, which will be reflected in next year's budget, but they can

Choye's Proposed School Restructuring Offers No Reduction in Administrators

A proposed new Princeton Regional administrative structure, developed by Superintendent of Schools Carol Choye, was expected to be a major topic of discussion at the School Board meeting scheduled for Tuesday night, July 14.

Dr. Choye said that recent resignations by three administrators provided an opportunity to assess the current and future needs and priorities of the schools, and arrive at an administrative structure that best meets these needs.

Two of the top administrators in the District, Assistant Superintendent Robert Rader and Supervising Principal John Sakala, have accepted other positions, as has Comptroller Daniel Saragnese.

All options to be presented by Dr. Choye require expanding the central administrative staff, which is headquartered at the Valley Road building.

Dr. Choye would like to fill Mr. Rader's position as quickly as possible, ideally by August. Mr. Rader is scheduled to leave September 1. She also recommends that the job title be changed to "business administrator/board secretary," from the current "assistant superintendent for business/board secretary." The job description, however, would remain the same.

The Superintendent also recommends that the position held by Mr. Saragnese, that of comptroller/assistant board secretary, be retained, but that this person not be hired until the new business administrator/board secretary is on board.

In seeking money-saving approaches during school budget deliberations, Dr. Choye had suggested the possibility of scaling down the comptroller position in order to hire a person at a lower salary. At the time, the School Board rejected this possibility.

A third hire in the business and board office was also proposed by Dr. Choye: that of a part-time clerical position of recording secretary to the School Board. This person would attend all Board and

Planners Asked to Void DKM Application Over Board Member's Conflict of Interest

Conflict of interest on the part of a Planning Board member who voted on DKM Residential Properties' Rushbrook application, plus two other "irregularities," are grounds for the hearings to be voided, according to the attorney for a neighborhood group opposing the application.

Rushbrook is the name of DKM's proposed subdivision of the 108-acre de Menil tract off Pretty Brook Road into 25 single family lots. The application has been the subject of seven formal hearings over the winter months and was finally approved with a long list of conditions by the Planning Board on May 21.

In a strongly worded eight-page letter sent to Planning Board Attorney Allen D. Porter last Thursday, Christopher Tarr, attorney for the Northwest Residents Association,

Princetonian Is Held For Kidnap Attempt At N.Y. Convention

A 21-year-old Township resident, Dina Taha of 881 Mount Lucas Road, is undergoing psychiatric examinations at New York's Bellevue Psychiatric Hospital, after she allegedly attempted to kidnap the 7-year-old daughter of a Puerto Rican legislator at the Democratic National Convention being held this week in Madison Square Garden.

A 1988 graduate of Princeton High School and a senior nursing student at the University of Delaware, Miss Taha, could be held for examination for up to 30 days. She has been charged with unlawful imprisonment and endangering the welfare of a child.

Many of the other tasks are done by a department
secretary.School Board President Gerald Groves expressed reluctance to make any personnel hires at this time. "We need to look at the system very carefully," he said "and consider the superintendent's recommendations as well as ideas from others."Given the need for a continuous presence in the business department, Dr. Groves suggested the possibility of hiring either a consultant or an in-term person.

Four Options

Dr. Choye outlined four different options that could be called into play when Mr.
Sakala leaves. She said that each has been discussed, and each makes a different statement about district priorities and directions.The first would establish the position of assistant superintendent for instruction, supported by a resource specialist for instruction.The second would establish the position of director of curriculum and instruction, supported by a resource specialist instruction and a consultant.The third option would establish an instructional management team composed of the building principals plus the director of student services.
Additional staff required would include a resource specialist-instruction, a consultant or part-time staff person in assessment, a consultant or part-time staff person in information management technology, and additional administrative staff at the school site focused on curriculum development and supervision.The final option would be to establish a director of elementary education and a director of secondary education to coordinate curriculum development and staff development and evaluation. Also to be provided would be a resource specialist-instruction, a consultant or
part-time staff person in assessment, and a consultant or part-time staff person in information management technology.Dr. Choye said she does not believe the Board should move immediately on deciding which structure best fits the district's instructional needs.She recommended that time be taken to review these options and their implications, and said that, after input from the Board and others, she would recommend a district organizational structure on September 1. This would be implemented by November.Between now and then, said the Superintendent, she would like to hire a retired senior administrator on a part-time consulting basis. This person would focus on managing and addition to payroll and operating expenses, the Town-

GETTING VOTERS TO REGISTER: Jeanne Silvester and Lewis Little, left, the Republican candidates for Township Committee, confer with campaign manager Carl Schafer about voter registration. Mr. Schafer, a Township Committeeman from 1963 to 1968, is a former Township mayor. Citizens who will be 18 years old by the November General Election and who have lived in the county 30 days are eligible to register. Registration is available at the Township Clerk's office.

Plans for Subdivision of Maybury Hill Draws Objections from Several Nearby Homeowners

The status of the Maybury Hill property on Snowden Lane, in particular, the deteriorating condition of the manor house, was the major order of business at Tuesday's Regional Planning Board meeting.

Application has been filed by Witherspoon Properties, owner of the 14.9-acre parcel of land, including the house, for preliminary major subdivision and site plan approval for a residential cluster development.

Witherspoon Properties plans to subdivide the land, which is located on the west side of Snowden Lane between Braeburn Drive and Terhune Road, into 14 lots, including 11 building lots of slightly less than one half acre each, plus two lots of open space, and one lot, containing the 260-year-old Maybury Hill house. The mansion was the birthplace of Joseph Hewes, signer of the Declaration of Independence from North Carolina.

Maybury Hill was listed as an Historic Landmark and placed on the State and National Registers of Historic Places in 1971, and the tract and manor house and its associated outbuildings were named a local historic district by Princeton Township in 1987.

As Planning Board chairman, Joseph O'Neill, noted at the meeting, "Maybury Hill was built some 50 years before the Declaration of Independence was signed and seven years before George Washington was born. It is an historic house, now in deplorable condition. We are very concerned about the condition of the house and its stabilization before restoration occurs."

Marvin Suomi, principal of Witherspoon Properties, has said he would renovate the mansion in keeping with the historic character of the property, and he previously stated his intention to live in the house himself.

However, Thomas C. Jamieson, Jr., attorney for Witherspoon Properties, pointed out in an earlier meeting that a source of funds is needed and a preliminary subdivision plan is necessary, so that restoration can proceed.

At Tuesday's meeting, in response to the Board's dismay over the condition of the house, Mr. Jamieson said that detailed restoration plans for the house are still before the Historic Preservation Commission.

"We hope they will work with us to complete the review in August," he stated. "We cannot proceed with the subdivision plan without having the restoration plan approved.

"Also, our hope is to proceed immediately with the restoration of the mansion even before the preliminary subdivision plan becomes the final plan. And, we will work with the Planning Board and the Historic Preservation Commission on a stabilization plan, if necessary.

Three Variances Needed

Planning consultant Richard Collier Jr. gave a detailed report of the application at the meeting, and included his recommendations. He noted that the application meets both the use and permitted density requirements of the zoning district. Witherspoon Properties has requested three variances: regarding front yard setback, side yard setback, and open space; in addition, it has sought four waivers, regarding the location and character of existing undisturbed vegetation, landscaping and site improvements, schematic plans and building drawings, and disturbance in Township waterway corridors.

Mr. Collier pointed out that Witherspoon Properties had incorporated several design modifications into the proposed subdivision, which were recommended at the time of a concept review in the fall of 1990.

"The resulting subdivision layout is sensitive to the historic setting of the Maybury Hill manor house ... The proposed subdivision is set back from Snowden Lane, thereby preserving the historic rural character of the Snowden Lane frontage."

He noted that both the Historic Preservation Commission and the Site Plan Review Advisory Board (SPRAB) reviewed the plan and made the following recommendations: consistent with the Master Plan, Snowden Lane should not be widened in order to avoid disturbing the streetscape and the removal of trees; the existing gate posts and driveway alignment to the manor house should be retained as a walkway but not used for vehicular ingress and egress; a sidewalk should be installed in front of proposed lot 593 and continued in front of adjacent lots 51, 52, and 53 along Snowden Lane; trees removed from the manor house yard and trees marked to be saved but damaged or destroyed during construction should be replaced.

Other recommendations called for carriage-type luminaires instead of standard contemporary fixtures; a wooden fence or low hedgerow constructed rather than the proposed metal fence; a simpler street sign than the one proposed; and the replacement of

Salt Water and Soda Machines = Money

Psst Want to make $40 in change? All you need is an eye dropper, some salt water and an unattended soda machine.

According to Sgt. Jerry Offredo, Township police have received reports of three incidents of soda machine theft where someone has sprayed a liquid into the dollar bill changing mechanism. At first police thought it was some kind of corrosive acid but now, said Sgt. Offredo, "we think it is a saltwater solution." Using an eye dropper to spray some of the solution into the changing mechanism causes the electronic mechanism to short out and release all its change. Each machine, he said, contains $40 in quarters in its bill-changing mechanism.

In some cases, Sgt. Offredo reported, the solution not only can cause the changing mechanism to discharge its coins but also send down coins to the change return slot and soda cans.

"You can blow the whole thing out," he said. Two machines sprayed with the solution are located at Leiggi's Mohl Station and Stefanelli's Automotive Service adjacent to each other on Bayard Lane. Both machines yielded $40 in change and were hit between Thursday evening and Friday morning.

On Friday, police received a call from Larini's Service Center on Alexander Street that someone had sprayed a solution into its soda machine, leaving a white residue. No coins were obtained in that attempt, however.

"We assume it is all being done by one person," said Sgt. Offredo. The practice has been attempted elsewhere, he reported, "but this is the first we've seen it."

A freshly stocked machine, he added, contains $40 in change and $275 worth of soda. The owner of the machines at Leiggi's and Stefanelli's, Adam Luke, Inc. of Trenton, told police that he estimates it costs $750 to repair and rewire the changing mechanism.

interlock pavers for the proposed driveway and walkway to Snowden Lane with other material.

Mr. Collier said that Witherspoon Properties had agreed to modify the landscaping and site improvements in response to these recommendations.

The site in its current condition is largely wooded, with the exception of the manor house yard, and the applicant has indicated that the 11 proposed building lots are generally characterized by elm, maple and sassafras trees, ranging from 30 to 60 feet in height. Mr. Collier said that the amount of clearing within each lot will depend on the design of each house, which is as yet unknown. He advises that clearing should be limited in order to preserve the historical setting and wooded area, and to provide a buffer between lots.

The proposed cluster development generally respects the sensitive environmental features of the site, including the Harry's Brook waterway, floodplains, wetland, and steep slopes, said Mr. Collier. A small portion of these critical areas is included in three of the 11 residential lots, but the majority of the sensitive environmental features is in the portion of open space.

New Access Road

The proposed development is to be served by a new access road, which will intersect Snowden Lane. The existing loop driveway to the manor house will be retained as a walkway, and access to the mansion will be provided by a driveway connected to the access road.

The applicant has also proposed to widen the southbound lane of Snowden Lane by one foot to a total width of 12 feet for a distance of 810 feet along the parcel frontage. The Master Plan identifies the historic character of Snowden Lane which should be preserved. Both the Historic Preservation Commission and SPRAB have advised against widening Snowden Lane, since it could disturb the streetscape and require additional tree removal.

Witherspoon Properties is not planning to provide sidewalks either within the development along the proposed access road, or along Snowden Lane. SPRAB has indicated that sidewalks and curbing should not be constructed along the access road in order to maintain a more rural character, but it has requested that sidewalks be installed in front of the lots along Snowden Lane and continue to Braeburn Drive.

The meeting was well attended by residents of Snowden Lane and Braeburn Drive and others whose property could be affected by the development. Most of those who spoke asked for specific changes in the application plan, or, in one case, objected to the entire development.

Call for Rejection

Lowell F. Curran Jr. of Braeburn Drive had previously written a Statement of Objection to the Board. He called for rejection.

tion of the project, saying, "The tract is too small, has too much wetlands and too much slope near the brook which passes through it to be the site of 12 residential lots, two different open space lots, an interior roadway with cul-de-sac and a large, dangerous detention basin on the slope, too close to the brook. The open space lots are illusory: one is much too small The other is of an entirely artificial shape and is really not common land at all; it's the detention basin and the back yard of the Maybury Hill house.

"Cluster development is proposed," continues Mr. Curran's statement, "not to foster the objective of preserving open space, but to permit the developer to achieve excessive residential density on the remaining main house and wetland property of what was once a working farm.

"Further," he notes, "the piecemeal tactic of the developer provides no measures of stability and protection from deterioration for the Maybury Hill house prior to its restoration, nor a clear timetable for such restoration. It is an old house, part of which has already been destroyed by fire, and will surely deteriorate, at some point, to a stage where it must be taken down for safety sake, if not properly preserved. And if it's taken down for safety purposes, or after a fire, the owner will, of course, apply for further subdivision to increase, even more, the density of use and the potential profit of development.

"The Princeton Regional Planning Board should deny the application in all respects; all requested waivers should be denied; the requested variances should be denied; the preliminary major subdivision and site plan should be denied."

John Fischer of 298 Snowden Lane, whose property is adjacent to Maybury Hill, noted that he had lived there for 37 years, had had a congenial relationship with the former owner, and he looks forward to the same with the new owner.

However, he had specific concerns with the application as presented. "I'd like to propose that the first building lot be abandoned. We have concerns about the nearness to our house, and I also have some uneasiness about where the Maybury Hill owners consider their boundary lines to be."

Mr. Fischer also worried about the proposed construction of a sidewalk. "I am retired, and I do not want the added financial responsibility of paying for a sidewalk and the upkeep of it."

In addition, he was concerned about references to blasting and possible damage to his basement. In conclusion, Mr. Fischer commented on the condition of the Maybury Hill house. "It has stood vacant for some time now. To the casual observer, it has deteriorated substantially in the past year. This is a concern for everyone."

It definitely was to Suzanne Hunt of 309 Snowden Lane, who had strong feelings about it. "I'd like to speak in the spirit of Mercedes Labatut (the former owner, now deceased, of Maybury Hill), who was a dear friend of mine. If Witherspoon Properties is sincerely interested in preserving the historic nature of the property, why are they allowing the house to deteriorate, and why has the lawn been allowed to grow so tall?"

At that point, Planning Board co-vice chair Margen Penick repeated the question: "Why hasn't the lawn been mowed?"

The fact that no architectural plans indicating the size, shape, and location of the houses for the proposed lots have been submitted bothered Chase Hunt of 309 Snowden Lane. "There is no real indication of what the height and size of the houses will be. Will they be tall? How tall? None of us here has any true sense of what these houses will be like. How can we evaluate a plan without that kind of information?"

Mr. Hunt also supported Mr. Fischer's concern that the lot designated as open space seemed quite small. He pointed out that in earlier meetings, Snowden Lane residents had requested that the first building lot be abandoned. "It is a disappointment to see that a house is still to be built on that lot."

He added that "the cluster development is not truly in keeping with the historic character of the property or of the house that has occupied it for so long."

Others agreed that retaining the existing natural look of Snowden Lane, without new houses visible from the street, was a very strong concern.

Flooding Concerns

Flooding was another worry. Meadowbrook Drive resident Reuben Cohen noted that, "My house is at the extreme northeast corner of the property, and there is severe flooding along Meadowbrook Drive. Please consider this when you review the application."

Others also were disturbed about the problem of flooding and runoff due to tree removal.

The subject of sidewalks was discussed at some length by Board members and the public, with most agreeing that safety requirements for school children necessitated some type of sidewalk.

Board member Ellen Stark suggested that "perhaps we can look at an alternative measure, such as a natural walkway, with different material; a pathway, perhaps, not a concrete walkway, that would be appropriate to the natural setting."

Ms. Stark also strongly emphasized the need for stabilization of the Maybury Hill house until restoration is begun. In addition, she stressed the need to see plans of the other houses.

The Planning Board will continue the hearing on the application at its Thursday night meeting.

Hummel Figures Stolen From Jordan's Gift Shop

Six Hummel figurines worth approximately $1,450 were shoplifted Friday from Jordan's gift shop in the Princeton Shopping Center. It would have been seven save for the chutzpah of a store clerk.

As related by Sgt. Jerry Offredo, the suspect entered the store around 2:10 and lingered a long time, walking from one end of the store to the other. When he finally left the store, a female employee, Sgt. Offredo said, had a feeling that something was wrong and she followed him. She approached him on the mall walkway and asked the suspect if he had shoplifted anything in the store. He denied it.

"I think you did," she replied. "You're going to come with me; I'm going to call the police." She had a lot of chutzpah, commented Sgt. Offredo.

With that, the suspect reached in his pants, pulled out a Hummel figurine and handed it over.

She felt he had more in his possession, Sgt. Offredo continued, and she followed the suspect to his pickup truck in the parking lot. Police, he said, have the N.J. license registration of the vehicle and are continuing the investigation.

Sgt. Offredo said that the suspect had forced open a locked glass window display to steal the figurines. The value of each ranges from $250 to $350.

The previous day, a Pandy Model 1800HD laptop computer valued at $999 was shoplifted from a sales area in the Radio Shack in the Princeton Shopping Center.

More Thefts from Cars

Thefts from parked cars continue in the Township with the report of two more incidents.

A pull-out $300 Clarion digital stereo was stolen from a 1983 Toyota parked last week in a Princeton University lot off Washington Road. The victim, a Township resident, told police her car was locked when she left it at 9:15 in the morning and locked when she returned shortly after noon.

A Pennsylvania resident lost approximately $100 when her purse was stolen from her 1991 Honda, which she had parked Monday in the Tennis pavilion lot near Baker Rink on campus. A rear passenger window had been smashed to gain access.

"We're getting killed on these car thefts," Sgt. Offredo observed.

Final Paving & Closure of Alexander Street

The final paving of Alexander Street is scheduled to start on Thursday, weather permitting.

On Thursday Alexander Street will be closed between the D&R Canal and the Rusty Scupper entrance. Basin Street residents are encouraged to park their vehicles at the Lawrence Apartment parking lot. Access to the Lawrence Apartments will be via Springdale Road to the west. This section will be re-opened in the evening after paving work is completed.

On Friday the western (golf course) side of Alexander Street will be paved between the Rusty Scupper entrance and the Princeton Borough line. Access will be provided to all businesses and residents.

On Saturday the eastern side of Alexander Street will be paved between the Rusty Scupper entrance and the Princeton Borough line. Access will be provided to all businesses and residents except for approximately one hour when the paving operation is taking place in front of a business or home. Faculty Road will be closed to through traffic during this operation.

The schedule is dependent upon no significant rainfall between Wednesday and Saturday. If rain occurs, the schedule will be delayed and resume the following day.

Those who have parking permits for Princeton University's Dinky lot may continue to use the lot through the duration of the project.

When a Princeton Packet employee changed into his work clothes Thursday morning, he left his change and a money clip containing $320 on a window ledge. A half hour later, while on his truck route, he realized he had left the clip behind. He returned but the clip was gone.

Borough police report a light blue lounge chair cushion valued at $60 was stolen overnight from the garage behind a Lytle Street home, and a $250 air-conditioning unit is missing from a third-floor office window at the Carnegie Foundation building, 5 Ivy Lane. Someone removed the unit to enter the locked office but nothing was taken.

$70 Film Flam

A con artist worked a familiar flim-flam to perfection last week on a clerk at Thrift Drugs in the Princeton Shopping Center.

According to Sgt. Offredo, a black male in his 30s, 5-10 to 6-0 tall with a moustache, approached a clerk and asked for change for a $20 bill. In rapid succession he asked for change for several different bills, telling the clerk, "You didn't give me change for this."

When the suspect left, another employee discovered $70 was missing from the register. "Obviously, this guy was pretty good," said Sgt. Offredo.

There were no bicycle thefts in the Borough last week but one was reported in the Township.

A student's yellow dirt bike valued at $25 was stolen Thursday from Community Park

School where the owner had secured it to a hike rack with a cable lock. No sign of the hike or the lock.

Equipment Vandalized At Road Repair Location

Two pieces of heavy equipment at the Alexander Road construction site were damaged overnight last week by vandals.

Two belts and a hydraulic hose were cut and an elevation guide bent on a milling machine, while a radiator hose was cut and an oil cooler punctured on a mobile sweeper. There was no estimate of the damage to the machines, which are owned by the Vic-Su Construction Co. of South Amboy.

A 1990 Jeep wagon parked early Saturday morning in the drive of a Woodside Drive home had the words "Ho!" and "What?" scratched in the hood. Police said the owner's 18-year-old daughter had parked the car in the drive at 2 a.m. There is no repair estimate.

Nassau Street Banner To Welcome Governors

When the Governors of the 50 states arrive in town in less than three weeks, they will be greeted by a large banner over Nassau Street welcoming them to Princeton.

The National Governors' Conference will be held in Princeton August 2 to 4. At its meeting last week, Borough Council unanimously approved hanging the banner as a way of welcoming the Governors to town.

Members of Council also showed a keen interest in displaying the flags of each state and the five United States territories along Nassau Street, an idea suggested by Jim Smith, who is helping to plan the event.

Mr. Smith said it might be difficult to display all 55 flags between Washington Road and Monument Drive. Councilman Ray Wadsworth told him that this was not the extent of Princeton. "The business district is up to Harrison," he said.

Mr. Smith also said the event had not brought the amount of private contributions originally hoped for, and that organizers would be reluctant to display the flags if it incurred a sizeable expense.

Council members approved the flag display, subject to figuring out a way to display them, and a way to pay for the display. The topic was expected to be discussed further at the July 14 Borough Council meeting.

Still on the topic of the Governors' Conference, Mayor Marvin Reed said that downtown stores were in the process of developing, with the Historical Society, a display of historical photos of Princeton. Some 50 stores are already involved.

On Thursday night, July 30, at 5:30 p.m., the Mayor, other officials, and members of the merchant community will meet at Borough Hall for a brief ceremony and then stroll down Nassau Street for a preview of downtown window displays.

Back to Drawing Board For New Parking Plan

The Borough's Traffic and Transportation Committee took another look at the controversial issue of parking in the east end of town, and it came up with a new plan.

The plan was presented at last week's meeting of Borough Council, and is expected to be discussed again at the Tuesday, July 14, meeting.

Dozens of neighborhood residents had come to a Council meeting last month to protest the Borough's proposed ordinance which would remove two-hour restrictions on their streets and return the streets to all-day parking.

Areas affected include portions of Murray Place, Aiken Avenue, Patton Avenue, and Princeton Avenue — all on the south side of Nassau Street, in the area near Princeton University's Engineering Quadrangle.

The two-hour restrictions went into effect about a year ago, in response to concerns about an increase in all-day parking. This increase was tied, at least in part, to construction on the Engineering Quadrangle.

"Parking is a resource to be shared by the community," said Leo Arons of the Traffic and Transportation Committee. "We were encouraged to review the plan to see if we could find a better one. We know it is a compromise."

New Concept

Michael Diesso, a member of the committee, explained the new proposal, which introduced a new concept to the Borough: restricted all-day (RAD) parking. This would prohibit parking until 8 a.m., and would discourage all-day commuter parking. RAD was suggested for sections of Murray Place and Princeton Avenue.

Standard all-day parking was tagged with the acronym SAD

— perhaps quite fitting under the circumstances.

The plan, which also covered Jugtown, is a mix of regulations calling for "no parking," "two-hour parking," "restricted all-day parking," and "standard all-day parking."

There had been earlier suggestions that Princeton University permit some parking on its private streets, FitzRandolph and Broadmead. Pamela Hersh, the University's director of community and state affairs, said the University would not allow this.

"We heard from every resident," she said. "They feel they pay $10,000 a year in taxes and the University provides municipal services. It would only free up a very few spaces, and it isn't going to solve your problem."

Responding to this emergence of town-gown conflict with a slight edge to his voice, the town's mayor, Marvin Reed, said, "If we had stayed with the original plan, I would have pressed you very hard to remove the residential stickers. It is eminently unfair."

"We've been beating up on the University, and maybe rightly so," said Councilman Mark Freda. "But there are others Davidson's generates traffic and has many employees. What about a shuttle service for them?"

Mayor Reed said such a discussion was currently under way.

There was some talk of opening up the area behind the Wawa building for parking, as well as about use of the privately owned parking garage behind the Ivy Inn.

Councilman Ray Wadsworth said the garage was a safety hazard, and that various people are trying to buy it.

"The Borough has an interest in the project," said the Mayor. "If it is not developed soon, we will have to declare it a fire and safety hazard."

Appraisal of Firehouse Unpopular With Council

Township Committee's request that an appraisal be made of the Chambers Street firehouse fell on deaf ears at last week's Borough Council meeting.

The Borough's governing body made it clear that it did not wish to pay the $8,000 the appraisal would cost. It preferred, instead, to place the firehouse on the auction block, with the proviso that any or all bids may be rejected.

The Chambers Street firehouse will soon be replaced by the new firehouse on Witherspoon Street, the first in Princeton Township.

Proceeds from the sale of the Chambers Street facility are scheduled to be used to offset the costs of the new fire station.

Community Park Pool 25 Years Old

The Princeton Community Park Pool will celebrate the 25th anniversary of its opening this Saturday.

After many years of discussion and planning, the pool opened May 27, 1967. It was the first outdoor, olympic-sized, deck-level pool in the country, and it has given thousands of residents countless hours of fun and exercise as well as relief from the torrid Princeton summers in the years since.

The Recreation Department has planned special events for the celebration, which will begin at 11, when the pool opens, and will continue into the evening.

Admission prices will be rolled back to the $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children that was charged in 1967. A disc jockey will play tunes from the 1960s from 12:30 to 2:30. There will be a tree dedication at 2 p.m., followed by birthday cake and ice cream. Arts and crafts for the children is scheduled from 1 to 3, and will include tie-dyeing of T-shirts (children are asked to bring a white t-shirt for this purpose).

"Wet and Wild" pool relays and games are planned from 3:30 to 4:30, and the snack bar will have a special menu. The rain date is Sunday.

Attempting to place a positive spin on the Township request, Mayor Marvin Reed said that an appraiser might be able to look at the property in terms of its best potential value, and give a clear indication of the zoning variances and special conditions that should be put in place.

Councilman David Goldfarb responded drily, "They'll tell you to put in a tall office building and eliminate parking requirements."

The Mayor was not addressing the point of an appraisal, said Councilman Mark Freda. "I think the appraisal is a waste of money. Let's move ahead."

Mr. Goldfarb concurred. "Eight thousand dollars is eight thousand dollars," he said. "We're putting it out to auction, which will let us know the market value of the property, and we can reject all bids."

Mayor Reed said, "If we do an appraisal, we may be able to convince Township Committee we would be better off doing this as a redevelopment plan."

"We don't need to be a developer," said Mr. Freda. "We have to get rid of the building."

He added that the Township needed to be told that Borough Council disagreed with having an appraisal done. "If they're willing to have a joint meeting, fine," he said. "We owe it to them. The last thing I want is to have to go to war with the Township."

The Mayor agreed to tell Township Committee that Borough Council does not want to spend the money [for an appraisal]. "We'll put the property up for auction and retain the right to reject bids," he said, adding that if Township Committee disagreed, he would ask for a joint meeting soon.

An October 1 auction date was suggested by Councilwoman Jane Terpstra.

Palmer Sq. Crosswalk Subject of Complaints

Councilman Ray Wadsworth told Borough Council last week that the brick crosswalk at Palmer Square East was often parked on by the Airporter and the Starr bus line.

He asked that the Borough send a "strong letter" to both firms as a way of dealing with the problem.

Mr. Wadsworth said he was especially concerned because there are a lot of elderly people living in the condominiums at Palmer Square. A blocked crosswalk could pose a real menace for them.

Councilwoman Jane Terpstra asked why the police don't ticket the offenders. "By the time they get there, they're gone," said Mr. Wadsworth.

The question of whether there may be too many metered spaces near the entrance was raised by Mayor Marvin Reed. He was assured that there is almost always enough room for a van or bus to park without its standing on the crosswalk.

Borough officials plan to follow up on Mr. Wadsworth's suggestion by sending a letter to Airporter and Starr officials.

Nervous Driver Charged With Drug Possession

A 26-year-old Lansford, Pa. driver, whom police described as very nervous, was stopped for a registration violation Thursday and subsequently charged with possession of less than 50 grams of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia.

The driver, Wayne Bachert, was stopped on Nassau Street near Harrison around 9 a.m. because his 1978 Ford pickup had no expiration date on its license plate. According to Chief Thomas Michaud, because Bachert appeared to be extremely nervous, gave answers to questions that did not make sense and denied owning a duffel bag in the truck, the officer asked for his consent to search the truck. Bachert agreed.

The search uncovered a small plastic bag containing marijuana, a wooden pipe in the duffel bag and marijuana seeds and stems in a cup.

Bachert was placed under arrest, charged and later released. He is scheduled to appear in Borough court on Monday.

Brother, Sister Charged

James Gormer, 28, and his 27-year-old sister, Donna Gormer, both residents of Hamilton Township, have each been charged by Township police with hindering their apprehension and with possession of an open container of alcohol in a motor vehicle. James was also charged with driving while on a revoked list.

The incident began the night after July 4th when Township police received a 10:30 call from the Institute for Advanced Study complaining of persons drinking in a car and playing loud music.

As Ptl. Robert Buchanan arrived, he noticed a grey Ford pulling away onto Olden Lane. He stopped the car.

As the officer approached the car, he detected a strong odor of alcohol and observed two open bottles of Seagrams 7 on the front seat. After questioning the driver and two occupants, he issued all three an open container summons.

The following day, the true owner of the car came to Township headquarters to report that while his car had been stopped he was not the driver; the driver, he said, had given police a false name. From information from the owner, police ascertained the driver was really Mr. Gormer, and the female occupant, who said she was Mr. Gormer's sister, confirmed this.

The third occupant, who was seated in the front seat and was not identified by police, was also charged with an open container violation. All were later released in their own recognizance.

Recipients Are Named For Youth Fund Grants

The Princeton Youth Fund, which has been collecting money and distributing it to organizations that provide services to the youth of Princeton, has announced the recipients of some $36,000 in grants for the 1992-1993 school year.

The Youth Fund received requests for more than $55,000 to fund youth programs. Thanks to generous donations from the community and the J. Seward Johnson Sr. Charitable Trust, $36,000 is available to be distributed among 19 organizations or programs.

Recipients include Young Audiences, which will provide six programs at the Princeton Public Library for pre-school and elementary age children; The Arts Council, to fund scholarships to its after school art program and its summer arts program and to help subsidize the Summer Sounds music program in Community Park North;

Also, Career Awareness, to fund a partial scholarship for a Princeton High School graduate to attend nursing school; Black Heritage, for an after school program that uses Princeton University students as tutors and provides educational and culturally enriching trips for 35 children; and MECHA, a Mercer County Hispanic support organization that provides a summer camp experience at the YMCA;

Other organizations that will receive Princeton Youth Fund grants are Creative Theater, the Princeton Public Library, Corner House, Youth Employment Service and the Intergenerational Council. HiTOPS, the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association, and the Princeton YWCA. The grant for Stony Brook is to train 10 Princeton High School students to share their knowledge of ecology and safe water with 4th and 5th graders.

Part of the grant to the YWCA is to fund a new Math and Science Academy that will be offered on Saturday mornings for second and third grade students and a parent or guardian. The rest is to fund a summer camp scholarship. The Princeton Youth Fund also funds an alcohol-free post prom and post graduation party for Princeton High School students and provides the food for a skating party for middle school students in Princeton.

Finally, the Youth Fund provides financial assistance for scholarships to the Department's summer camp and also for the Princeton High School Choir trip.

For more information about the Youth Fund, write to P.O. Box 1240, Princeton 08542, or call Mimi Ballard at 924-2098.

Township Must Decide Whether It's Shortsighted To Use State Aid to Lower Tax Rate for This Year

The good news for the Township — and also for the Borough — is that both municipalities will receive the same amount of state aid in 1992 as in 1991.

For the Township, the amount is roughly $420,000 in property tax relief allocated from the Quality in Education Act of 1991. For the Borough the amount is $487,628. Both municipalities had included these amounts in their 1992 operating budgets but with fingers crossed that the state would allocate the full amount this year as last year. Calculating each tax point as roughly equivalent to $70,000, the loss of this aid would have meant an increase in the tax rate of six cents or more.

On Monday night, Township Administrator James J. Pascale warned Committee that 1992 will be the last year for this state aid, as he described another potential "windfall" for the Township's 1992 budget on Monday night and asked for a vote on some budget amendments. It seems that the state will allow the municipality to defer paying its share of a state-mandated pension plan for firemen and police officers until 1993. The Township's share amounts to $280,000.

The Township could either take advantage of this windfall to drop its tax rate four cents (there are four $70,000 tax point potentials in $280,000) from the 11 cents that is currently projected, or it could put the money in surplus knowing it will have to pay the $280,000 the following year. Mr. Pascale and Himanshu Shah, the chief financial officer, strongly advised Committee not to drop the tax rate this year but to use this money to offset future costs.

He pointed out that there is a strong likelihood that the Township will not receive the $420,000 in state aid next year (six tax points), and that fact coupled with having to pay the $280,000 could increase the 1993 tax rate 10 points without even considering salary raises, hikes in health insurance or increases in other operating costs. Moreover, as Committee member Phyllis Marchand, pointed out, contracts with the Township police and the school teachers come due next year and will have to be renegotiated.

But three members of Committee — Laurence Glasberg, Fred Porter and Ellen Souter — are always on the alert for ways to reduce taxes for property owners, and this opportunity seemed too good to pass up. Hardly a Township Committee meeting passes without one or the other of these three members speaking of the difficult economic times and high unemployment rate. Mr. Glasberg was about to make a motion to remove the pension contribution from this year's budget when Mr. Shah added to Mr. Pascale's list of things that will propel the 1993 tax rate up the fact that interest income for the Township is going down.

Option to Drop 1992 Rate

That gave Mr. Porter pause, but Mr. Glasberg was undeterred. He moved that the 1992 tax rate be dropped four points. The motion was not seconded. Mr. Porter then moved to table the discussion until this Monday's meeting, when two other resolutions to amend the budget will be up for approval. One takes into account an increase expected in state grants for police and fire services.

The other reduces the revenue expected from fees collected from residents for dumping material at the landfill dumpster from $39,500 to $13,000 and reduces the expenditures for this service by a similar amount. According to Mr. Pascale, the volume of material brought by residents, or the number of residents using the landfill, is not what had been anticipated when the fee system went into effect.

Sewer Operating Committee Chairman J. B. Smith said he thinks the reason is that the fee system has put a stop to the number of residents from other municipalities who were taking their trash to the Princeton landfill. Mr. Glasberg suggested that the entire dumping operation should be re-evaluated with an eye to reducing costs, i.e. eliminating or transferring personnel, if it is not being used to the extent that was anticipated.

Mr. Smith explained that the dump has certain fixed expenses, namely the cost of having the dumpster carted away to a landfill when it is full and the cost of having someone on hand to assist residents, to check whether they are Princeton residents and have paid the appropriate fee, and to make sure toxics of various kinds are not included in the dumped material. He said if the fees are not adequate to cover these costs, they will be raised so that the operation is paid for by the users.

Mr. Glasberg did not seem satisfied and again asked for a re-evaluation of the operation. He also voted against the appropriation of $4,000, the Township's share of repairs that are needed to a house that is on Sewer Operating Committee property on River Road which the Borough is renting to an SOC assistant superintendent for $250 a month. The rest of Committee agreed to the repairs, but in the expectation that the situation will be re-evaluated when the lease is up in October.

32 Tusculum Acres

In other business, Committee introduced an ordinance reinserting a clause required by the Green Acres program in an ordinance that allows the Township to accept a $750,000 Green Acres grant to assist in the purchase of 32 acres of the Tusculum property off Cherry Hill Road.

Mercer County has recently ranked Tusculum fourth in its list of properties targeted for acquisition for open space and recreation.

Other ordinances introduced last Monday that will have public hearings this Monday include a bond ordinance to implement the 1992 capital budget; $150,000 for various needs of the joint agencies, such as the Fire Department and Public Library, $85,000 for miscellaneous equipment for Township departments, and $110,000 for the Township Public Works Department, including road repair and some new equipment.

The total, $330,000, is considerably less than capital budgets of previous years, which were in the seven-figure range and included much more extensive road and infrastructure repair.

Committee also introduced an ordinance appropriating $13,500 for the Township's share of the new, proposed southern entrance to the Princeton Shopping Center. Township Engineer Robert Kiser said he hoped the new entrance could be completed by October or November. As another traffic matter, Committee introduced an ordinance that will allow it to move the location of a previously approved traffic light at Valley Road and Route 206 to Valley Road and Witherspoon Street.

The light will be connected to the new firehouse on Witherspoon Street so that a dispatcher at the firehouse will be able to preempt the signal to allow fire engines to exit the firehouse safely and quickly on call.

Mountain Ave. Bikepath

The final piece of business on Monday night concerned a missing segment in the sidewalk/bikepath along Mountain Avenue. If approved, the 210-foot long section, would give a continuous sidewalk along the northerly side of Mountain Avenue from Route 206 to Elm Road. The Township Traffic Safety Officer, Sgt. David Cromwell, the Bikepath Advisory Committee and even the abutting property owners agree that the missing section should be completed.

The problem lies in how the costs should be assessed and in the fact that this one little piece will be unusually expensive to construct because a bank will have to be cut into and regraded to provide a level space for the path. A retaining wall will have to be installed, and some concrete steps and a lamp post will have to be moved back from the road, further adding to the cost.

In bidding out the project, which was approved by a previous Township Committee, Township Engineer Robert V. Kiser tacked it onto the Stuart Road reconstruction in order to reduce the cost as much as possible. The total amount comes to $8,700. Township policy in recent years has been to assess the abutting property owners 75 percent and to pay 25 percent itself.

The difficulties of the terrain contribute $6,900 to the total cost. Mr. Kiser recommended that that Committee assess the three abutting property owners 75 percent based on the cost of the bikepath alone, which he said would be $1,800, or that the Township pick up the entire cost. He also suggested that Committee could use $5,830 that was set aside for bikepath purposes by the Yedlin Company for the Andrews-Foulet tract but not used.

One abutting property owner, David Wurtzel, said that since the bikepath would benefit everyone, not just the abutting homeowners, the Township should pay the entire amount. Two members of the Pinelli family, who will be hit the hardest if the assessment is made on the basis of the entire cost, including the retaining wall, seemed willing to accept the assessment if it were made just on the basis of the bikepath.

A motion to that effect seemed about to be made, when Mr. Glasberg asked whether the $5,830 could just as well be applied to the Alexander Street bikepath as this bikepath. Mrs. Souter then said she thought it only fair that the $5,830 be apportioned, so that it is not used in only one area. She mentioned her own neighborhood, Snowden Lane, where the Maybury Hill application now before the Planning Board has prompted a discussion of extending the sidewalk in certain areas.

When Mayor Richard Woodbridge asked what portion of the $5,830 she would assign to the Mountain Avenue bikepath, she said 10 percent, or a $583 reduction in the $6,540 cost to the neighbors. Mr. Porter and Mr. Glasberg both voted against the motion to implement this decision. Mr. Porter said he couldn't justify spending money on a bikepath "at this time," and cited the economy and the unemployment rate.

Mr. Glasberg said that in these difficult times one had to make a distinction between "what is truly essential and what is nice to have." Countering that this bikepath is "absolutely essential," Mayor Richard Woodbridge voted "yes," and so did Mrs. Souter and Mrs. Marchand. Committee then went into closed session to discuss "personnel."

A LITTLE BIT OF NEW ORLEANS IN PRINCETON: Jerry Rife and the Rhythm Kings play some Dixieland on the Nassau Inn green during the Bastille Day celebration Friday on Palmer Square.

Third Time Around Lucky For Nassau Inn Waiter

The number of entrants was down to 20, the prize down from two airline tickets to Paris to a weekend for two at the Harborplace Hotel in Baltimore's Inner Harbor. But the competition was just as keen and the third time around proved to be a winning one for Wayne Wyatt.

The 23-year-old waiter at the Tap Room in Nassau Inn won the fourth annual Bastille Day Waiters Race on Friday going away. Balancing a split of Perrier-Jouet champagne and two glasses filled with water, Wyatt circled Palmer Square in the championship heat to beat out six other finalists. He finished ahead of second-place Mike Otrok, a waiter at Clancy's Place in Princeton Shopping Center by some 25 yards. Mr. Otrok, 23, had finished third a year ago. Last year's winner, Jim Ealy from J.B. Winberie, did not compete.

Mr. Otrok won a weekend for two at the Nassau Inn. Coming in third was Matt Michaels, a 21-year-old student at Rutgers University and a waiter at Winberie's. He won a gift set of Perrier-Jouet champagne, one of three sponsors of the race together with the Nassau Inn and J.B. Winberie.

A waiter for the past five years at the Inn, Wyatt displayed the speed of a former distance runner — which he was at Trenton High. His friends, he said, had inspired him to compete. "Everyone said go."

Still, he insisted that he had not made up his mind to run until just before the race. "I got to work at 4:30, worked until 5, took my clothes off and wasn't sure until 5:15 that I was going to do it." He intended, he said, to go back to work after the excitement settled down.

When asked if he was surprised at the margin of his win, Wyatt replied, "No, not really. Not when I saw the competition."

One of the finalists was Borough Councilman Roger Martindell, a late entrant. (Anyone could enter who was willing to pay a $10 entry fee.) Martindell is a better Councilman than runner.

Another competitor in this year's race was Pam Hersh, Director of Community and State Affairs for Princeton University, a tortoise — slow but determined. Another spur-of-the-moment entrant, Donna O'Rourke, a 40-year-old dental hygienist.

After the race, a New Orleans Dixieland Band, Jerry Rife and The Rhythm Kings, livened things up with some foot-stomping music on the green in front of Nassau Hall. The evening was capped off with fireworks at the YMCA field that provided the customary oohs and aahs — or as some students proclaimed, "Kodak moments."

The annual Bastille Day celebration and race helps raise money for the Princeton-Colmar Sister City Association. Upwards of 300 attended the event. "A good crowd, about the same as last year," said Mayor Marvin Reed, the official starter for the three heats and championship race.

Princeton Receives Grant For Book Preservation

Princeton University has been awarded a $980,686 grant by the National Endowment for the Humanities to finance preservation of 13,000 brittle volumes in the University library's vernacular Arabic collection. The funds will be used in tandem with a substantial gift from Harrison Garrett, a member of Princeton's Class of 1933, to microfilm the threatened volumes.

The materials, including a rich collection of Arabic newspapers and journals held nowhere else in the United States, are primarily on wood-pulp stock, which is prone to yellowing and disintegrating because of the acid used to bleach the paper. A recent survey found just three percent of the volumes in good condition; the rest were highly acidic, many of them in need of preservation immediately.

The new grant will fund the second phase of the preservation. The first phase began in 1989 with an initial 9,000 volumes from the Arabic collection.

Princeton's Arabic collection ranks with Harvard's as one of the top two in the U.S. The Arabic materials are part of the University library's 300,000-volume Near East Collection, which began at the turn of the century. The Arabic materials are used by scholars from around the world, including the countries of their origin, which in many cases no longer possess them.

The Garrett family interest in Near Eastern Studies at Princeton reaches back to the last century. Harrison Garrett is the son of Robert Garrett, a member of Princeton's Class of 1897 and longtime University trustee who is noted for participating in 1896 in the first modern Olympic Games. An avid collector of near Eastern manuscripts, Robert Garrett gave the University 10,000 Near Eastern manuscripts in 1942.

The Garrett Collection remains a major resource of the University's Department of Near Eastern Studies.

Robert F. Goheen

Classical Studies Prize Named for Robert Goheen

The Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation has received from The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation a grant of $40,000 to establish an endowment for the Robert F. Goheen Prize in Classical Studies.

The prize, which will be open to all past and present Mellon Fellows in classics or classical studies who have graduate status and have not yet attained the doctorate, will be first awarded for the academic year 1993-94. Awards will be based on distinguished academic achievement, timely progress toward degree and with preference for proposed study at a classical site or center for research.

The award is made, according to William G. Bowen, President of the Mellon Foundation, "in recognition of Mr. Goheen's distinguished service to The Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation and, in particular, in recognition of the leadership he has given to the Mellon Fellowships in the Humanities program ..."

Dr. Goheen, who was President of Princeton University from 1957 to 1972, U.S. Ambassador to India, and chairman of the Council of Foundations, was also national director of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation while an assistant professor at Princeton. He is retiring from the position of director of the Mellon Fellowships, based at the Woodrow Wilson Foundation, but will continue as a trustee of that foundation.

Workshops Available For Learning Disabled

The Newgrange Community Outreach Center at 2-4 Chambers Street will offer a two-part workshop this summer for college-bound students, or those already attending college, who have learning disabilities.

The first, "College Survival Skills," will prepare students to be their own advocates on the college campus. Students will be helped to understand and explain to others their own strengths, weaknesses, and interests. They will learn of their legal rights and the accommodations they may request from the colleges to help them compensate for their learning disabilities. In addition, each participant will be provided with a checklist for planning a successful college experience.

This workshop will be offered twice: Thursday, July 30, and Thursday, August 6, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. The fee is $25 and enrollment is limited to 15.

The second workshop, "Making the Library Work for You" is co-sponsored by the Newgrange School and the Princeton Public Library. It is designed to familiarize students with the library, the range of materials typically offered, and how to collect information for report writing and research. This workshop is scheduled for Tuesday, July 21, and Tuesday, August 4, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. There is no fee, and enrollment is limited to 12. Call the Newgrange Community Outreach Center at 924-6204 for registration.

The Newgrange Community Outreach Center has a large collection of information and resources on learning disabilities, ranging from early childhood to adult. Of particular interest to college-age and college-bound people is information on college selection, SAT preparation, and career education.

A computer program entitled "College Explorer" is available for use in the office.

This program searches 2,700 colleges and sorts them by 600 different options. Also available are video tapes of the seminars presented by a variety of speakers at a recent Newgrange - ETS sponsored symposium on college and post-secondary options for learning disabled students and those who need academic support.

The Center has summer hours from 9 to noon on Tuesday and Thursday and will make appointments at other times upon request.

Five Drivers Are Fined In Township Court Here

Five Princeton area drivers were fined last week in Township court by Judge Russell Annich Jr.

Adrienne M. Chonka, 247 Princeton Avenue, was fined $785 and sentenced to one day in jail (served in court) for driving while her license was suspended. Her license was revoked an additional ten days.

Arijit Sen, 221C Halsey Street paid two fines: $315 and loss of license for one year for no insurance and $30 for failure to have car inspected. Fined $75 each were Alice T. Gerb, 127 Meadowbrook Drive, stop sign; Helen L. Keran, 95 Crestview Drive, improper turn, and David Morreale, 114 Lakedale Drive, speeding.

In Borough criminal court Monday, Hugo Torres, 16½ Leigh Avenue, was fined $50 and $50 to the Violent Crime Compensation Board for assault. Jacinto Fernandez Barreiro, Cherry Valley Road, paid the same two fines for harassment. As a minor in possession of an alcoholic beverage, Gregory N. Hunt, 168 Guyot Avenue, was fined $50.

In Borough traffic court, Judge Annich fined Alan G. Frank, 801 Brian Court, $75 for failure to give proper signal. Daniel M. Risso, 15 Sassafas Row, paid $35 for failure to provide child restraint.

In last week's court report, Howard B. Unangst of Russell Road was incorrectly listed on the court calendar as being fined $30 as an unlicensed driver; his summons was changed to no insurance card in possession.

Kidnapping

According to New York authorities, Miss Taha did not have an invitation but still managed, around 10:45 Sunday evening, to enter a party for the Puerto Rican delegation at the World Trade Center in lower Manhattan.

To get in, she allegedly identified herself as the daughter of Democratic presidential candidate Bill Clinton. She then took 7-year-old Ana Maria Jarabo from her mother Theresa, saying she was going to escort the child to her father on the other side of the room. The child's father, Jose Jarabo, 48, is the speaker of the Puerto Rican Assembly.

Dina Taha

The mother, unsuspecting, watched as Miss Taha walked past Mr. Jarabo and left the room. Mr. Jarabo, police said, thought Miss Taha was a babysitter and was taking his daughter to the bathroom. They walked past him and continued on toward the building lobby facing the Westside Highway.

The parents became worried however and notified building security officers. Miss Taha and the child were stopped as they tried to enter a taxi outside the World Trade Center. The child was not injured and was away from her parents for less than ten minutes. Miss Taha was arrested without incident.

Miss Taha's arrest, which shocked friends and neighbors in Princeton, was the first arrest related to the convention which is expected to nominate Bill Clinton as the Democratic candidate for president. New York Mayor David Dinkins called Ana Maria later and asked to meet with her.

Miss Taha's parents have declined to comment on the incident. Her father, Issam Taha, is a science teacher at Princeton High School. A childhood friend said that he was very strict with her. Her uncle, Hilal Taha, teaches mathematics at Princeton High.

charges that Ellen Stark, through her husband, Albert Stark, had a conflict of interest, which was not disclosed to the board and which voids all the hearings. Mr. Stark is a partner in the law firm Stark and Stark which is the prime tenant leasing some 50,000 square feet of space in a DKM-owned building in the Princeton Park Office Center on Princeton Pike in Lawrence Township. DKM was the developer of the office complex and is also headquartered there.

In addition, Stark and Stark has acted as land use attorneys for DKM with respect to some or all of that office park, Mr. Tarr states. He writes: "These direct and substantial relationships violate the letter and spirit" of the Planning Board's Rules and Regulations as well as the recently enacted Local Government Ethics Law.

In addition, Mr. Tarr states that on July 1, Thomas C. Jamieson Jr., attorney for DKM in the Rushbrook application, disclosed for the first time that the sales agreement by which DKM had agreed to purchase the deMenil property expired on April 1 and will not be renewed. "As of that date," Mr. Tarr writes, "DKM lacked standing to bring this application [before the Planning Board]. It should have been disclosed and dealt with then."

Finally, Mr. Tarr says that the proposed Findings of Fact, drawn up by Mr. Porter to memorialize the board's decisions on May 21, refer to a variance to allow construction in the steep slopes area and a waiver for intrusion into the waterway corridor, but that the board may not have taken action on the variance or the waiver. Mr. Tarr writes that he has listened to the tapes of the May 21 meeting, and although the final tape is incomplete, there is no discussion of any waiver or variance.

He theorizes that because Mr. Jamieson told the board at its April 21 meeting that no variances were required or being sought because of modifications to the plan over the course of the hearings, the steep slopes variance and waterway corridor waiver were overlooked. But, as with the other "irregularities," he cites case law to make his point that these are "substantial" matters and that his clients have worked "too long and hard" to have them overlooked.

Mr. Tarr is expected to raise these issues publicly on Thursday at a regular Planning Board meeting at which approval of the proposed Findings of Fact from the DKM/Rushbrook application is the first order of business. The meeting begins at 7:30, and will also include a discussion of the subcommittee's report on the design of the road crossing at the upper dam.

Pretty Brook Entrance

The entrance from Pretty Brook Road was perhaps the most difficult and controversial aspect of the entire application. There are two ponds located along the roadway, each with a dam on its westerly side. DKM proposed an entrance at the upper dam, the neighbors and certain members of the Township Flood Control Committee favored an entrance further west along Pretty Brook Road, either on the lower dam or west of it. Much of the hearings were taken up in analysis of the advantages and disadvantages of these different entrance points in terms of environmental impacts.

DKM held firm for the upper dam crossing, saying that approval of this crossing was crucial to the development going forward because the Army Corps of Engineers permit, which was issued for the upper dam crossing, will expire on January 13, 1993 and can not easily be transferred to another location. Moreover the amount of disturbance at the two locations was found to be fairly similar.

In the vote on this key issue, six members of the board, including Mrs. Stark, voted for the upper dam crossing. Five members voted against it. Mr. Tarr points out that if Mrs. Stark had disqualified herself, as he believes she should have, the vote would have been tied and the motion to approve the upper dam crossing would have failed. William Enslin, who had previously spoken in favor of the lower crossing, was absent at the time of the vote.

On Thursday night, Mr. Tarr is expected to follow up on his request to Mr. Porter that he advise the board that Mrs. Stark's conflict of interest "voids the proceedings." Although Mr. Jamieson is likely to maintain that the hearings ended with the May 21 meeting, Mr. Tarr points out that as recently as June 30, a subcommittee of the board met with the neighbors and DKM on redesign of the upper crossing and is prepared to have the full board vote on its recommendation this Thursday, in effect a continuation of discussion and vote on the issues.

Mr. Tarr says the Planning Board should enforce its rules and act quickly to void the hearings and start anew, "to avoid the further cost and delay which would result if the matter went to the Superior Court, which would remand the matter for new hearings in any event."

If the legal wrangling that is likely to ensue Thursday evening does not consume the entire evening, the board is also scheduled to hear three applications, including a continuation of the Maybury Hill subdivision plans.

An extra Planning Board meeting has been scheduled for Thursday, July 23, however. The board does not usually meet in August.

Birds Guiltier than Dogs In "Polluting" Princeton

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Concerned citizens might applaud the actions of Jan Weinberg in enforcing the Princeton pooper scooper law and of councilmen Wadsworth, Goldfarb and Martindell in passing such a law (TOWN TOPICS, 6/24). Their actions should allow all of us to live in the kind of pristine land that God must have intended, but forgot about, when he invented feces. However, they have only begun to address the problem of fecal "pollution" that plagues Princeton.

Why stop just with dogs? Why not do away with all animal fecal leavings? What about the deer, squirrels, field mice and rabbits that daily soil our environment with their "disgraceful" bowel movements? Why don't we have an ordinance against them?

And what about the most obvious problem of all, those dive-bombing fecal terrorists who far outnumber the dogs, the birds of Princeton? While the four-legged mammals in the list may leave an unsightly load on a sidewalk or in a yard, causing momentary revulsion or far worse, to soil a shoe, these airborne marauders frequently drop their deadly payloads upon our houses, cars, windows, even our heads.

If soiling a shoe (which is made to walk in dirt anyway) is worth $500 and two months in prison, then soiling a head should command the death penalty. The evidence is everywhere, those white irregular splashes that stain our sidewalks, public benches, and statues. All birds are offenders, since we know of no proper lavatory and sewage facilities for birds, and they can't all be flying to West Windsor or Montgomery every time they feel the urge.

Therefore one can conclude that, upon passage of such a law, all of Princeton's birds would become outlaws and subject to prosecution. Birds could be given fair warning by posting signs in trees where they are sure to see them. Never mind that they can't read. Any lawyer will tell you that ignorance of the law is no excuse. The main problem will be one of enforcement. Because birds are so small and fast and have the unfair advantage of flight, they are nearly impossible to catch. One might also add that they all look alike, putting oneself at the risk of being accused of speciesism.

It seems inevitable that no birds will be caught, indeed that all birds will continue to gleefully violate the law. Unlike the dogs, no human is going to step forward to accept the inevitable fines and prison sentences handed down for the actions of the offending birds. Therefore the only solution seems to be to kill all of the birds. Since this problem is far more serious than that for dogs, the police would have to get involved. They could carry special bird rifles (22's or small gauge shotguns should do nicely) and simply shoot every bird they see. Concerned citizens like Mr. Weinberg and councilmen Wadsworth, Goldfarb and Martindell could certainly be counted on to join in on the slaughter to help make Princeton feces free.

The YMCA could offer courses on the proper techniques for lining up a bird in one's rifle sights and slowly squeezing the trigger. If this solution fails, the next step would be to cut down all of the trees in Princeton that attract and shelter these outlaws of nature, as well as providing targets for dogs. In little time, Princeton could be free of unsightly bird feces. Come on councilmen, let's get moving!

As an alternative, we could admit that God didn't make a mistake when he invented feces and that all animals have a right to live as nature intended. Animal feces are neither "disgraceful" nor "pollution." They are a natural, quickly and completely biodegradable by-product of animal life. They also represent a vital component of the fertilizer upon which all plant life depends.

If we had more of this natural fertilizer, perhaps we could use less of the artificial petroleum based fertilizers that currently pollute our streams and groundwater and poison the birds who eat it thinking the fertilizer grains are seeds. As unpleasant as it may seem, animal feces are an integral part of life on Earth.

Perhaps when our councilmen realize this, they will stop wasting time passing ridiculous laws like the pooper scooper law. And if they can't find a better use of their time, perhaps we should elect new councilmen.

Such laws are a reflection of the mean-spiritedness of recessionary times. The only positive feature of the law is that the police aren't involved. Enforcement has been left up to those individuals who are hostile enough to drag their neighbors to court and also have time to waste filling out forms and sitting in court.

The law will only serve to create additional conflict within the community and provide humorous articles for the local newspapers whenever it is enforced. Let us call upon the council to repeal this mean-spirited joke of a law immediately!

Actors Bring Energy, Enthusiasm to Open Air Theatre's "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum"

For their Open Air Theatre offering at Washington Crossing this season, Encore Theatre Productions has chosen the Stephen Sondheim musical A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum. This show, because of its timeframe and locale, offers opportunity for clever directing, updated dialog, and imaginative costuming, much of which was well carried off.

Encore Theatre Productions is a company of young actors; much of the cast is in college or high school. Despite their youth and occasional lapse in vocal technique, these actors make up for their shortcomings in energy and enthusiasm on stage.

As with any ensemble of players, one individual often stands out as exceptional — in this case, Jimmy Mount, currently a theater student at Rider College who appears as the hapless protagonist and who also doubles as another minor character. Mr. Mount's strength is his sense of timing, and he is significantly responsible for moving the show along. He was the most adept actor by far at handling Diana Rencan's musical staging and choreography. Mark Rifkin, playing the role of brothel owner Lycus was a close second. Both of these actors have a good sense of the stage and pacing.

The role of "our hero," appropriately named "Hicco," was played by Mark Riley, who has extensive experience in children's theater. This experience was put to good use as he created a sympathetic character to whom the audience could relate and who was a good foil to Pseudolus. His "heroine," played by Marta Slahinski and named Philia, was portrayed as "Vanna White in a tunic" — one might expect to see her that night on Roman television turning Roman vowels. Ms. Slahinski's vocal strength was in her light and clear upper register, unusual to hear in a musical theater performer.

The humor in Forum is found in its ludicrous plot (based on traditional Roman farces), the dialog (which moved along very quickly in this production), and in such subtle touches as the names of the characters (the courtesans were called "Panacea" and "Gymnasia"). Director and Conductor Richard Anzuini kept things in control with his small but well-playing pit orchestra and there was very little dead space in the production.

As ever with Open Air Theatre productions, some glitches in the sound system need to be worked out. When the cast is singing in a long line across the stage there is a great deal of unevenness in the sound. However, this theater company has a good handle on a show which offers almost unlimited opportunities for interpretation, and the talent of young actors such as Jimmy Mount is worth the trip to the charming setting of the Open Air Theatre.

A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum will continue this coming weekend. Ticket information can be obtained by calling 737-1826.

Music

Commission, the concert is free.

The quintet plays the original jazz compositions of Princeton pianist/composer Jeff Presslaff. His tunes range from the traditional 12-bar blues to his own unique forms, and include extensive spontaneous improvisations by the players in the group. Featured in the ensemble will be Cornelius Bumpus, who is best known as the sax player and vocalist with the Doobie Brothers, and whose recent credits include tours of the United States and Europe with Etta James and an album with Don Fagan. Also with the quintet are Pat Wristen on trumpet, Tom McKenzie, bass, and Ferdi Serim of Kingston, drums.

The audience is invited to bring lawn chairs and blankets for seating on the grass. Picnics and tailgating is welcome, alcohol is not. In the event of inclement conditions, the concert will move to the air-conditioned senior center at the municipal complex on Route 522 and Kingston Lane.

For information, call 297-4433, weekdays, 8:30 to 4:30.

Saturday Brass Quintet Plans Concert Here

The Princeton University Summer Chamber Concerts will present the Saturday Brass Quintet in concert on Tuesday at 8 in Richardson Auditorium. Admission is free.

In 1990 the Saturday Brass Quintet became the first brass ensemble in 14 years to win the Walter W. Naumburg Chamber Music Award. They have also won prizes at the Fischhoff, Mendez, and Artists International Competition, and have received three awards from Chamber Music America: the 1987 and 1989 Ensemble Commissioning Awards, and the 1989 three-year Residency Grant.

Active in Arts-in-Education, the Saturday Brass Quintet is Quintet-in-Residence at the Manhattan School of Music and has given master classes at The Juilliard School, the San Francisco Conservatory, and the Shepherd School of Music at Rice University.

The Quintet is currently on the artist roster of Lincoln Center's Meet-the-Artists, Carnegie Hall's Neighborhood Concert Program, New York Young Audiences and New Jersey Young Audiences.

The program will open with Pari Intervollo by Arvo Part, a contemporary composer. It continues with the Ricercor del Primo Tuono by Giovanni Palestrina, O Vos Omnes by Carlo Gesualdo, Three Venetian Pieces of Andrea Gabrieli, four Canzoni by Giovanni Gabrieli and a German Baroque Collection by Samuel Scheidt. The concert will conclude with the music of J.S. Bach: four contrapuncti from the Art of Fugue and a Fugue in G Minor.

The audience is welcome (and encouraged) to picnic on the grass behind Alexander Hall before the concert. Cleanup is the responsibility of the picnickers.

Tickets, which are free, will be required for admission to the performance, and can be picked up beginning this Wednesday, July 15, at the Richardson Auditorium box office. Box office hours are Monday through Friday, 4 to 6, and from 4 to 8 p.m. on the evening of the performance.

There is a two ticket per patron restriction. The box office will not take telephone reservations. The number to call for information only is 258-5000.

Post 218's Skid "Rough", Admits Manager Parker

"It's been rough," admitted Princeton Post 218 manager Tom Parker last week, after his team had lost its third Mercer County American League game in three days and its 14th in a row. "We've got to pick ourselves up to get out of this slump."

In its last start on Thursday, Post 218, after leading 6-3, lost a 6-5 decision to Trenton Post 93 when Schroth pitcher Steve DeConzanzo, hit a two-out double in the bottom of the last inning to drive in the winning run. "The gremlins are against us," said Parker. "It was just one of those things; you could see it coming."

Parker said he could see his pitcher, Jeremy Rathbone, was tiring. "Normally, I'd pull him and make a change so the other team would have to adjust." But Parker reported he had no options. Danny Wilson was sick, Darren Horangic was not present for the game and Derek Kaczmarek, Post 218's other starter, had pitched the day before.

Streaking Post 93, which has rebounded after losing its first seven in a row, "never let down," admitted Parker. "They battled back. They definitely earned their win."

The previous day, Post 218 was the victim of a one-hitter by Hamilton Post 31 pitcher Tom Phillips, as Kevin Shaffer belted a two-out triple in the fifth for Princeton's lone hit in the 9-2 loss.

The day before that, Princeton had a 3-0 lead over Hightstown before Post 148 rallied for five runs in the fifth and an ultimate 6-3 win. The 14-game losing skein has plunged Post 218 into the league cellar with a 2-18 record.

With a half-dozen games remaining Post 218 can't salvage this season but it can play for pride. "If the kids give it their best shot — which they usually do — we'll win some more before this is over," predicted Parker.

"I'll always be an optimist," Parker continued. "I really do believe we have the talent and the ability to compete with anybody in this league. We have three of the best hitters in the league in Ben Stentz, Geoff Spies and Chris Healey."

Spies has been a pleasant surprise, said Parker, for a rookie. "He's been hot all year and he plays excellent defense. Healey had been doing an excellent job considering this is his first full year behind the plate."

Each of the three had two hits in the loss to Trenton. Spies drove in a pair of runs with a single and double; Stentz, batting in the high .300s, had a pair of hits and Healey doubled and singled in his two at bats and drove in a run. Two rookies, Chris Olson and Andy Wershel accounted for Princeton's other three hits, Olson connecting for a pair.

Rathbone went the distance for Post 218 and was tagged for a dozen hits. He was one out away from an extra inning game when Trenton catcher Tom Carr reached base on a two-out error and DeConzanzo won his own game by lining the ball to the left-center fence to plate pinch runner Ralph Slazano.

Princeton Post 76 Is 0-3

During the same three days that Post 218 was going 0-3, Princeton Post 76 was doing the same to fall to 6-14 and out of contention in the league race.

Derek Kaczmarek
He Couldn't Halt Slide

On Thursday, manager Jerry Price's team was shelled (and shocked) by Mitchell Davis, 17-6, as the victors scored in every inning but one, including six in the fifth inning, to end an eight-game losing streak. Five Post 76 pitchers could not slam the door.

Starter Jim Jacobsohn, who gave up six hits and seven runs in 2 1/3 innings, was the loser. Lionel Upson had three of Post 76's seven hits and drove in three runs.

The previous day, Post 76 was ripped, 12-7, by Bordentown which scored five runs in the first inning and five in the last. The losers received two hits each from Ryan Spruill and DH Greg Mika and three RBIs from Matt McClenahan. Ed Upson pitched five innings for Post 76 and absorbed the loss, his fourth against one win.

The one that hurt the most was the eight-inning, 5-4 loss to surprising Hopewell Post 339 in Pennington to start the week. Post 76 lost its 4-1 lead when Hopewell plated three runs off starter Mark McKenzie to tie.

Oddly enough, a big league baseball player was once traded for himself! ... The losing streak for Princeton Post 218 reached 16 straight Monday with a 7-0 loss to Ewing. It followed Saturday's 9-6 setback to Hopewell. Princeton Post 76 ended a four-game losing streak by winning its last two starts, defeating Lawrence, 8-5, on Monday and routing Trenton, 13-1, on Saturday.

Both teams have four games left to play and will end their seasons on Tuesday — weather permitting.

Ewing's Delmar Glanton stifled Post 218. He scattered five hits, struck out five, didn't allow a single extra base hit and retired the first nine Post 218 batters in a row before Ben Stentz singled in the fourth. Matt Deveau had two of Princeton's five hits.

Two days earlier, the first three batters in the Hopewell lineup each drove in two runs and combined for seven hits to lead Hopewell to its 15th win.

Post 218 hit the ball hard, connecting for 12 hits, one fewer than Hopewell, but it could never plate more than two runs in any inning. Hopewell scored three in the fourth and four in the fifth inning to take command. Mike Proaccini and Deveau each had three hits for Princeton and Stentz had two. Derek Kaczmarek pitched the first 4½ innings for Post 218, gave up all nine Hopewell runs and was charged with his fourth loss.

A three-run triple by Phil Ledesma in the sixth that vaulted Post 76 from a 5-4 to an 8-4 lead was the key blow in the 76ers' win over Lawrence. Earlier, Matt McClenahan's three-run double highlighted a four-run rally by Post 76 in the third inning. Pitcher Mark McKenzie scattered ten hits for the win. He now has five of Post 76's eight wins.

On Saturday, 14-year-old Hassan Collier won his second game in three decisions by pitching Post 76 past Trenton. He scattered eight hits and limited Post 93 to a lone run in the sixth inning when Tom Carr doubled home Dave Williams.

His teammates took the pressure off early by plating five runs in the first inning before putting the outcome out of reach with six more runs in the sixth. Ed Upson drove in three runs for Post 76 and Peter Nolan and Greg Mika each knocked in a pair.

the game in the sixth inning.

Pete Nolan, in relief, retired Hopewell in the seventh but ran into trouble in the first extra inning. A squib single and a bag hop single sandwiched around an intentional walk loaded the bases with Post 339 runners with one out. Leftfielder Chris Witwer then hit a high chopper over the drawn-in Post 76 infield for the game-winner. The win for third-place Hopewell was its 13th in 16 games.

Princeton Is Eliminated From District 12 Tourney

From player to spectator in two days. That was the fate last week of the Princeton team in the District 12 Little League Tournament.

In the end it was poor fielding that sent the Princeton team packing. Princeton committed six errors that translated into five unearned runs in Saturday's 7-2 loss to the Ewing Americans for its second defeat in the 18-team, double-elimination tournament. "There's really no excuse for the way we played," said Princeton manager Harry Mapps. Sharp in contrast, Ewing bobbled the ball only once and turned three double plays, including one to end the game. After the game Mapps allowed that the victors' fielding was "pretty impressive."

The previous day, Princeton's hopes for continued progress in the tournament were buoyed when its bats came alive and it overwhelmed North Trenton, 25-12, scoring eight runs in the first inning.

In its opening round loss to defending District 12 champion West Windsor, Princeton had managed just six hits and Mapps had voiced concern about the lack of offense. Against North Trenton, Princeton erupted for 16 hits, including four by lead-off batter Alex Cotton and three by center fielder Chris Butts that included a three-run homer in Princeton's big first inning.

Not Mentally Prepared

Mapps commented that his team was not mentally prepared for Ewing after its big win the day before. Princeton did not have much time to think, as it turned out. Ewing jumped to a 3-0 lead in the first inning off Princeton starter Ryan Bahoshy, combining a lead-off single by catcher Bill Bolmer, two more singles and two Princeton errors. Princeton climbed right back in the game, however, when Cotton knocked in both Princeton runs with one of his three hits. Princeton out hit Ewing, 11-8.

Ewing took a 6-2 lead in the fourth when it plated three unearned runs. Right fielder Cliff Barnes reached base on an error and scored on a throwing error to first by third baseman Peter Richter on a bunt single. After Bahoshy issued his second walk, Pat Marchetti and Bolmer each connected for RBI singles.

Bahoshy pitched the first four innings and allowed seven hits and six runs (one earned) and struck out one. Butts pitched the fifth inning in relief and was touched for one hit and one run.

In addition to Cotton's three hits, Butts and Richter each had two hits for Princeton while Max Wright, Kevin Boswell, Jay Curtis and Bahoshy each had one. P.J. Valenza was the winning pitcher for the Ewing Americans, who moved on to a contest against Chambersburg in the losers' bracket.

12 Batters in First Inning

Against North Trenton on Friday, Princeton sent 12 batters to the plate in the first inning, scoring eight runs. Two errors, a passed ball and two hits sent the first two runs across, before Butts powered the ball over the fence just inside the left field foul pole for three more runs to highlight the rally.

Princeton batted around again in the third when it scored five runs to increase its margin to 15-0 and again in the fifth when it sent nine more runs across. Cotton had four hits and two RBIs and Butts had three and drove in six runs to lead Princeton at the plate. Danny Seidel, Boswell, and Aaron Jackson added two hits apiece and Max Wright, Chris Prevost and Bahoshy contributed single hits.

For North Trenton, which had been elobbered 32-0 in its previous outing by Nottingham, the loss was viewed as a victory of sorts. Manager Robert Green praised his squad of 11- and 12-year-olds for never giving up no matter what the score.

North Trenton scored six runs in the third inning, two in the fourth and was still swinging away in the final inning when it scored four more times. The losers made it easy for Princeton by committing more than a dozen errors.

Boswell started on the mound for Princeton and went four innings. He gave up six hits and eight runs, walked eight and struck out seven. Richter pitched the fifth inning and Jeff Mapps the sixth.

Princeton-Montgomery Out of District 1 Tourney

For the Princeton-Montgomery team in the eight-team District 1 Babe Ruth 15-Year-Old Tournament it was a short tourney.

Princeton-Montgomery was ousted from the double elimination event on Monday when it lost its second straight game, dropping a 13-3 decision to Hopewell in the losers' bracket, in a game played at the BRL George Mickolas Field in Trenton.

Princeton starter, Dan Kavarta, surrendered three runs in the first inning and did not last the second when Hopewell plated two more runs.

Hopewell kept up the attack against reliever Scott Sleprouka, as it scored in every inning. The game was called after five innings under the 10-run rule.

Winning pitcher Casey Burns walked eight but he struck out six and he allowed just three hits — by Mike Geiger, Mike McGovern and Kyle Mapps. Leadoff batter Mike Piepszak belted a double and a triple and catcher Andrew Cardin clubbed a pair of doubles to lead Hopewell at the plate.

In its opening round game, Princeton-Montgomery drew the Hamilton Nationals, the District 1 Babe Ruth champions the past two years. Hamilton won, 11-1, behind the two-hit pitching of Mike Ogronick.

Once again, the game was halted after five under the ten run rule. The only two P-M batters to solve Ogronick were Sleprouka, playing at second, and losing pitcher Jamie Guest. Guest went four innings and gave up six runs and nine hits. Richard Bliss was reached for five runs in relief. He gave up just one hit but walked five.

Catcher Anthony Mangine was a heavy hitter for the victors, as he ripped a two-run single in the fourth inning and a two-run double in the sixth.

Artistic Takes the Lead In Summer Basketball

Artistic Builders, whose players have won the Princeton Recreation Summer Basketball League title every year in the league's three-year existence, began the week in a familiar position.

After winning its last three games, including a 56-48 triumph over SMB Monday, Artistic is on top of the standings with a 7-1 record. A half-game back at 6-1 is Chemical Bank, which lost for the first time on Monday in a mild upset to Billy Hill's Musicians, 56-40. Chemical was without the service of its highest scoring player, Garland Gillette, and one of its starting guards.

In games this Wednesday at Community Park, Princeton Youth Sports will oppose Bellini of Princeton at 6:15; Bergman & Barrett will meet Lawnmaster at 7:15 in a battle between the league's tailenders and in the 8:15 nightcap, Billy Hill will play SMB.

On Friday, PYS and Bellini will meet at 6:15 and in a showdown battle for first place, Artistic and Chemical Bank will clash at 7:15.

Marc Brown scored 12 points (10 in the first half) and Charles Brown added 10 to lead Artistic to its win over SMB. The losers were led by Hun School standout Courtney Fitch, who has returned from playing with a team of high school players in

Kyle Mapps
He Had One of Three Hits

Italy, Fitch connected for 15 points, while teammate, Clarence Wright tossed in 11.

Doug Grover poured in 22 points, including a perfect eight-for-eight from the foul line, to lead Billy Hill's Musicians to its upset of Chemical Bank. Peter Sharpless canned 10 points and he enabled the Musicians to end on a thunderous note with a ringing slam dunk on a breakaway near the buzzer.

Ron Washington paced the Bank with 12 points.

In Monday's final game, Bellini, coming on strong, topped B&B, 46-41. Mike D'Allegro and Greg Cygan each had 13 points for Bellini. Chris Buccelardo was the third Bellini player to reach double figures with 11. Dennis Wysocki, 12 points, and Mike Williams (11) were high for the losers.

In a well-played game on Friday, Marc Brown netted 17 points to help carry Artistic past Billy Hill's, 52-48. Grover and Rich Simkus combined for 39 points for the Musicians, Grover hitting a game-high 24.

Two former Hun players, D'Allegro and Cygan with 19 and 12 points respectively, powered Bellini to a 76-49 win over Lawnmaster. In double figures for the losers were Chris Carlton with 18 points and Joe Smith with 10.

Last Wednesday, Artistic placed 11 players in the scoring column in a 60-47 win over Billy Hill's. Freddie Young topped the list with 11. Leon Newsome, a 6-5, 265-pound defensive end on the Princeton University football team, who attended a mini-camp in a tryout for the New York Giants this summer, added 10 points. Grover, again, led Billy Hill's with 18 markers.

Rodney Derry connected for 20 points to lead Princeton Youth Sports to a 48-38 victory over B&B. Wysocki was high for the losers with 13.

A little one-upmanship took place in the final game between Chemical Bank and SMB, begun under threatening skies.

Under league rules, reported league commissioner Doug

Snyder, if a game gets to the second half or beyond it is official.

With 45 seconds to go in the first half, the Bank was trailing SMB 21-18 as it started to drizzle. Both Snyder and Gil Fisher, the league officials, wanted to get the game in; Chemical, wishing to avoid its first loss, called a time out. Then it called a second time out, as it began to drizzle harder. When the Bank called a third successive time out — all legal — it was by then raining hard and the game had to be called.

It will be replayed July 24, starting with 34 seconds left in the first half.

In the standings to date, Billy Hill is third behind Artistic and Chemical with a 5-3 record. Bellini is 5-4, and PYS even at 4-4. SMB is 2-4, followed by Lawnmaster at 1-5 and winless B&B, 0-8.

Ficarro's Regains Lead; Four Games Left to Play

With four games left to play in the regular season, Princeton-based Steve Ficarro's Auto Body regained the lead in the Women's Softball League last week.

Ficarro's 11-2 victory over Ground Round coupled with Miller Beer's last-inning, come-from-behind, one-run upset of Grove Plumbing left Ficarro's on top with a 20-3 record. Grove and Mercer Spring are tied for second at 19-4.

The last week of play should be interesting, commented Ficarro general manager Robert Smyth. Grove and Mercer Spring have to play each other three times in the next four games, noted Smyth. "Whatever happens there will be good for us."

Ficarro's has a scheduled game with Logo Sport, a game with Robert's Landscaping on Thursday at 6:30 at Mercer Park's Field 6 and will finish up with two games with Three Seasons. "On the face of it," said Smyth, "we have an easier schedule than Grove or Mercer Spring." However, Smyth also noted that in past seasons, Ficarro's and Three Seasons have made the playoffs year after year and all contests between the two teams have been good, well-played games. "I'm sure they would like to knock us off," he said.

Top Six In Playoffs

The top six finishers in the league compete in the annual playoffs. The first and second-place teams receive byes in the first two rounds. After that it is a single elimination tournament until the playoff finals, which is a best two of three.

Last year Grove won the league title and Ficarro's finished second. In the playoffs, the results were reversed, Ficarro's defeating Grove. Trophies are awarded to the league champion and runner-up and to the playoff champion and runner-up.

Against Ground Round last week, Ficarro's loaded the bases in the first inning but failed to score.

It broke the game open with a five-run spurt in the fifth inning. Winning pitcher Carol Ann Mazzella also had two hits, including a triple. Cindy Lombardo homered and singled for Ficarro's, Grace Durland rapped two hits and Sandi Hihbs tripled.

During the war she returned to New Jersey and became the librarian at Fort Monmouth Army Base and a regular volunteer in the base hospital. But it will clue you into every home we have for sale. It's the Coldwell Banker® Schlott, Realtors® Real Estate Buyer's Guide, and it's a "must" for your summer reading. The Real Estate Buyer's Guide is published each month in two regional editions. Each edition includes every home we have for sale in that particular area, so it's a good overview of the market. The homes are listed by price and in order of price, so you can find just what you're looking for. It's no wonder where you can get a Real Estate Buyer's Guide.
